On the very edge of the Greater London Built-up Area lies Guildford, an enchanting town with strong Saxon roots going back before the Domesday Book. Sprung forth from a gap in the North Downs, the nearby A3 provides access to London to the north and Portsmouth to the south.

This quintessential town – with a modern cathedral and the University of Surrey – offers more than just an eclectic history: its town centre has Purple Flag status from its vast array of shops, bars and restaurants. Modern facilities are set alongside historic buildings, including the iconic 14th-century guildhall, while granite-cobbled streets make this one of the most attractive towns in the southeast. A true farmers' market is held on the first Tuesday of every month, featuring produce and goods sourced locally.

Excellent schools, both private and state with Ofsted ratings of 'outstanding', are within walking distance of Welland House, as are two rail stations, the national prize-winning Spectrum Leisure Centre, theatres and High Street.

The beautiful and surprisingly remote countryside surrounding Guildford has it all, from hidden gem villages to sweeping vistas – difficult to top anywhere else in the home counties. Ramble through the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty and North Downs' wooded hills and valleys. Nearby ancient woodlands and the stunning patchwork countryside feature extensive walking routes such as the local Downs Link or the Harrow Way.

Make use of the railway access to London and the south coast, whether you yearn for the lights and bustle of the city or for the waves, sand and tranquillity of the seaside. If you enjoy a tippie, look no further than the local area for a great brew at Tillingbourne Brewery, a G&T at Silent Pool Distillers or a glass of wine or bubbly at organic Albury Vineyard, Greyfriars Vineyard or High Clandon Estate.

Guildford has long been known for its excellent commuter links and connections, due to its location between London and Portsmouth. Being adjacent to the A3 ensures ready access to the M25, and beyond, for a smooth commute or day trip; with two nearby rail stations, Guildford is justifiably one of the top towns in London's commuter belt.
