

Land adjoining grounds of Lodsworth House, Lodsworth
Price guide £50,000 freehold

GILLS LANE WEST SUSSEX GU28 9BY

Price Guide £50,000 Freehold

An interesting and unusual parcel of woodland and glades located in the grounds of historic Lodsworth House. 0.365 of an acre. The land is accessible through the main entrance to Lodsworth House and is an attractive peaceful oasis in the centre of this well regarded and renowned Sussex village of Lodsworth. In the heart of the South Downs National Park yet well situated for access to local amenities.

This parcel of land was sold off from the main estate of Lodsworth House some years ago and acquired by our client. The owners have since carried out some clearance of the land and kept it well maintained with some lovely seating areas and open glades. It would not be possible to clear all of the trees but subject to agreement with the local authority and the tree officer, no doubt further works could be carried out. The land is outside any planning policy area however, this could be subject to change with the government's new planning policies which are shortly coming into force. The land is suitable for a variety of recreational, sporting and amenity uses although in recent times it is a peaceful oasis and an escape from the pressure of day-to-day life. There are no services connected to the site although we understand that mains water and mains electricity are close by in the highway. The land is being sold on an unconditional basis and the owners are not interested in options or subject to planning situations.

Viewings can be undertaken at interested parties convenience. We request that all parties park on the site in the designated parking area and do not trespass onto adjoining private land. The boundaries are clearly marked and identified on the attached plan. Access is through the main gates of Lodsworth House, following the main drive forking left before entering the main house, keeping left and left again before reaching a spur road with the entrance of the land clearly marked with the Clarke Gammon board showing the designated parking area.
